FRIGHTFUL DISASTER.

British Flagship Victoria Goes This One Strikes Atlanta, Georgia, Down with a Vice-Admiral and Four Hundred Men.

She is Run Into by Ship Camperdown During a Manoeuvre.

Twenty-one Officers Drowned and Two Hundred and Fifty-five Men Saved.

LONDON, June 23. The British battle ship Victoria, the flagship of the Mediterranean squadron has been lost with hundreds of lives. The Victoria, which flew the flag of Vice-Admiral Sir George Tryon, K. C. B., was run late off Tripoli, by the British steamship battleship Camperdown, also belonging to the Mediterranean squadron, and under the command of Captain Charles Johnston. The Vicitoria had an enormous hole made in her side through which the water poured in torrenta-4 The hull at once began to settle and before those on board could cast loose their small boats, she went to the bottom, carrying down with her nearly all on board. Some of her officers and crew managed to get out of the suction caused by the sinking vessel, and were rescued. Not less than four hundred of the officers and crew were drowned. Among those lost is Vice-Admiral Tryon. The Victoria was a twin-screw battleship of 10,470 tons, and 14,000 horse-power. She mounted fifteen guns. The Camperdown is also a first-class twin-screw battleship. She is of 10,600 tons and 11,500 horse-power and carries ten guns. Rear Admiral Markham, of the Trafalgar, teletheship. She is of 10,600 tons and 11,500 horse-power and carries ten guns. Rear Admiral Markham, of the Trafaigar, telegraphs from Tripoli as follows: This afternoon, while manouvering off Tripoli, the Victoria and Camperdown collided. The Victoria and Camperdown collided. The Victoria sank in fifteen minutes in elighteen fathoms of water. She lies bottom uppermost. The Camperdown's ram struck the Victoria forward of the Turret on the starbeard side. Twenty-one officers were drowned. Two hundred and fifty-five men were saved. The injury to the Camperdown is scrious.

The Path of Destruction Fifty Miles in Length.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 23. A cyclone cut a swath fifty miles long across the counties above Atlanta, yesterday afternoon. Dallas, a small town, half way between Atlanta and Rome was annihilated. The storm headed direct for Atlanta and hundreds who saw it sweeping down from Kealsaw mountain ran into their sellars. On the western edge of the city the storm split and passed around on either side, blowing down small bu idings and one small church but causing no loss of life. At Dallas the brick hotel and twenty residences and storehouses were unroofed. Several persons were lajured, but none Several persons were lajured, but none fatality. All along the track of the storm corn and fruit crops are roined. FOREIGN NEWS. BERLIN, June 23. Several riotons demonstrations were made to-day by socialists. Picy were charged by the police and soldigrs and over one hundred arrests were made. Described by the Chief of Engineers.

At the recent reunion of the Loyal Leion of the United States, at St. Paul, Minnesota, Chief Engineer George W.

Let us not fail, however, to do justice to these old ships. In their time, manned by brave crews, and directed by gallant officers, they did good service.

"The change which has come about is due, almost entirely, to improvements in engineering. The increased economy of modern steam machinery has made it pessible to depend entirely on the engines, for propulsion, thus causing the abolition of sails, and the retention of masts only for military purposes, while the advance in other departments of engineering has given us the steel hull, the steel armor and the steel gun.

"I need not go into the details hy which present conditions have brought about, but will simply repeat that the modern war vessel is eoal.

"We must not only have a big fast horse, but we must be able to feed him. This we can do, owing to the great increase of economy. Were it not for this increased economy our vessels could not make the long trips under steam they now do.

increased economy our vessels could not make the long trips under steam they now do.

"Let me, however, clear up an idea which I have found to be prevalent. It is often asked why our war vessels do not make long trips at high speed. It is simply because, relative to their speed, they are small and have a limited coal supply. The Columbia and Minneapolis have engines more powerful than those of the trans-Atlantic steamers New York and Paris, and will be two knots faster, but they are loss than half the size of these trans-Atlantic greybounds. It can be easily seen, therefore, that, although the engines weigh less, there is nothing like the room left for coal, so that only a few day's supply for full power can be carried.
"In fact, it is not necessary for our vessels to have the enpacity for these long runs. With slightly greater speed, their gons can soon be brought to hear, and then the swift merchantman must surrender.

The Modern Kayv.

"It is almost inevitable that a technical man should become too professional in describing a subject as our modern fighting machines." To give you a more popular idea of the size and power of the machinery of one of them, I will quote from a lecture delivered not long ago by one of my assisfants, where he gives some data for the Minneapolis:

"There will be about sixty-one separate engines, not counting cylinders, which would probably run up to 120, for main, auxiliary and pumping purposes.

But there was no case against any person in the house as it turns out The slaughter of two persons with a cutting instrument could not have been accomplished by even an expert butcher in the manner described, without bespattering the murderer and the clothing with blood let the only persons in the house were under surveil ance within thirty minutes of the commission of the last murder, and no signs of blood or of a struggle were detected beyond the bodies of the dead As to motive, none was established Let such a murder must have a motive, f not committed by a madman Withou blood stains on garments or person, with out signs of a struggle, and without any motive apparent, I lozie Rorden was sus pected, arrested, imprisoned for ten months and arraigned for the dreadful crued interest.

The treatmen of Fizzie Borden by the State of Massachusetts had been the great est outrage on record in that State since the days of w teheraft, or to put it square ly since the era of ecclesi stical devilish ness, supplemented by popular stupidity And the pro-ecuting officer should be deposed without delay. Such a man for have assumed that the State is an intangia victim. He is mistaken, but not more mistaken than many sinfilar agents of the body politic albeit the greatest bungler of this kind. When he saw he had no shadow of a case, why did he not move for a nolle pros and save his reputation from a stain that nothing an wipe out? He has runce a life on evulence that would not hang a dog

THE SELVER QUESTION. Bunkers' Congress Biscusses the Importunt Question.

The Record of Friday's Games. Cincago, Jone 23. The sliver question was discussed in the art palace by the bankers' congress to-day. The discussion was keen and was closely followed by the bankers present. Both the sliver and antistiver nen spoke for their beliefs. The first speaker was James H. Platt, of Colorado. Mr. Platt is a firm believer in sliver and stated his views. He said: "The remedy for the evils under which we are now suffering is the restoration of sliver to its place as money, which it has held successfully for seventy-six years, until it was demonetized.

"Let our coinage laws be fixed to suit ourselves. Under that collection of miscrable makeshift and blunders known as the Sherman law, four million sliver dollars have been coined. That iniquitous law passed in a confused session. I was a member of that Congress. I state positively that when that question on the passage of the bill was put, not more thin six yout d'upe and not one "no." I was to say that I know if the members of that house were aware of the provisions of the bill, it would have been defeated by a two-thirds' yote."

BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL OF BOSTON

Boston, April 15, 1893.
Dear Sirs:—On account of the extra work I was doing, working late nights and losing sleep, the strain on my nerves became so great that I was suffering with nervous prostration, to the extent that I was losing my memory, and I ad a peculiar dizzy sensation in my head, that at times took away my eyesight and numbed my sense of feeling so that I was meon-clous of what was going on around me.

sense of freling so that I was uncon-clousof what was going on around me.

I became greatly alarmed, and on recommendation of my wife, who had learned of the peculiar virtue of Palne's celery compound I began to take it. At first it seemed to do me more harm than good, but after the first duzen doses or so, I began to feel better and the reconstituents.

In these days of worthless patent medicines I believe it a duty to my friends and to suffering humanity in general, when I find a medicine that is good, to let people know it.

I can highly recommend I aime's collery compound, and for those w to are suffering from overwork and nervousness nothing is better to restore them to their former strength and vigor.

Yours truly, Jos. G. C. ANKARD.
